TRIONA'S MOST WANTED

Now that fake tan has become so desperately unfashionable, I'm suddenly all about it.

After checking out loads, the best one that I've found since I've become a tanimal is Top Image Tan, €25, see www.topimage.ie — it is sooo easy to apply.

I normally put it on on unmoisturised skin straight after a shower, for an instant, streak-free result.

It doesn't streak, as the coloured tint of the tan guides me so I can see where it has been applied, and any danger of streaking is easily avoided.

Because Top Image Tan is a chemical tan, and appara works with the skin's own melanin — that's our natural tanning ability when it's at home — it gives you a perfect, natural tan that doesn't make you look orange, like Jordan, pictured.

Best of all, once dry, you're not left with that yucky, fake-tan smell.
